GIVING TUESDAY

On #GivingTuesday, nonprofits like StriveCLT have the opportunity to share our mission and gain supporters – hopefully, like you. This international day of giving was created in 2012 as a reaction against the consumerism and self-interest of Black Friday and Cyber Monday. On #GivingTuesday, millions of people across the country commit their time, treasure, and talents.

We play a crucial role in impacting the lives of residents in a low wealth community in Charlotte. Our focus is on delivering the kind of resources, connections, information, and experiences that support the building blocks essential to increase one's social capital and economic mobility. We provide active reading tutoring, digital and financial literacy, family mentoring, and networking opportunities to help residents reach their full potential.

This year, we've expand out-of-school support for elementary school children and tripled the number of students enrolled in our afterschool program. We provide training in financial literacy for applicants seeking Section 8 vouchers for affordable housing, and established a virtual GED program to assist residents in our program with attaining a degree to improve their status in the workforce. In all that we do, StriveCLT implements programs and activities that help people Strive to Thrive!

We are powered by a small staff and a dedicated team of volunteers, and ask that you please consider contributing to our organization to help us achieve our mission. Your donation, no matter the size, can have a profound impact on the lives of those we serve.

This #GivingTuesday, we invite you to join StriveCLT in creating meaningful, lasting change. Your generosity will make a difference in the lives of those directly impacted by our programs and contribute to the broader vision of building a better, more compassionate world.
